County Commission Okays Drug Fund

Randall County commissioners court Monday voted to participate financially in a drug control program instigated by the city of Amarillo.

The court agreed to contribute $3,300 instead of $6,000 as requested originally.

Commissioner Clarence Beckman suggested that the county participate on a basis of taxable property valuation. He said Randall's valuation is about one third that of Potter and since Potter County's contribution was $6,000, Randall's should be about $2,000.

Beckman's suggestion was rejected in favor of a per capita basis similar to that used for financial participation in the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission. Using this formula, commissioners arrived at the $3,300 figure.

"I think we ought to participate, but how much?" said Beckman.

"They (Amarillo) have figured it on the basis of need," said Commissioner Bill Butler. "We have West Texas State University."

"I think we ought to get the program going as soon as possible," declared Commissioner Jim Fletcher.

"John (Amarillo City Manger John Stiff) said they're going to do it anyway whether we participate or not," commented County Judge Carroll Brown.

The program is known as the Metropolitan Drug Control Program and will be administered by the city of Amarillo, according to Judge Brown.

The drug program calls for the addition of two undercover narcotics agents to the Amarillo Police Department. Financial needs were set by the department at about $20,000.

Amarillo Chief of Police Wylie Alexander told commissioners last week the agents will be available for use in Canyon and Randall County as needed.

Amarillo and Potter County have voted to go along with the drug program, but the City of Canyon has declined to give their appropriated $2,000. The city voted Thursday night not to join.

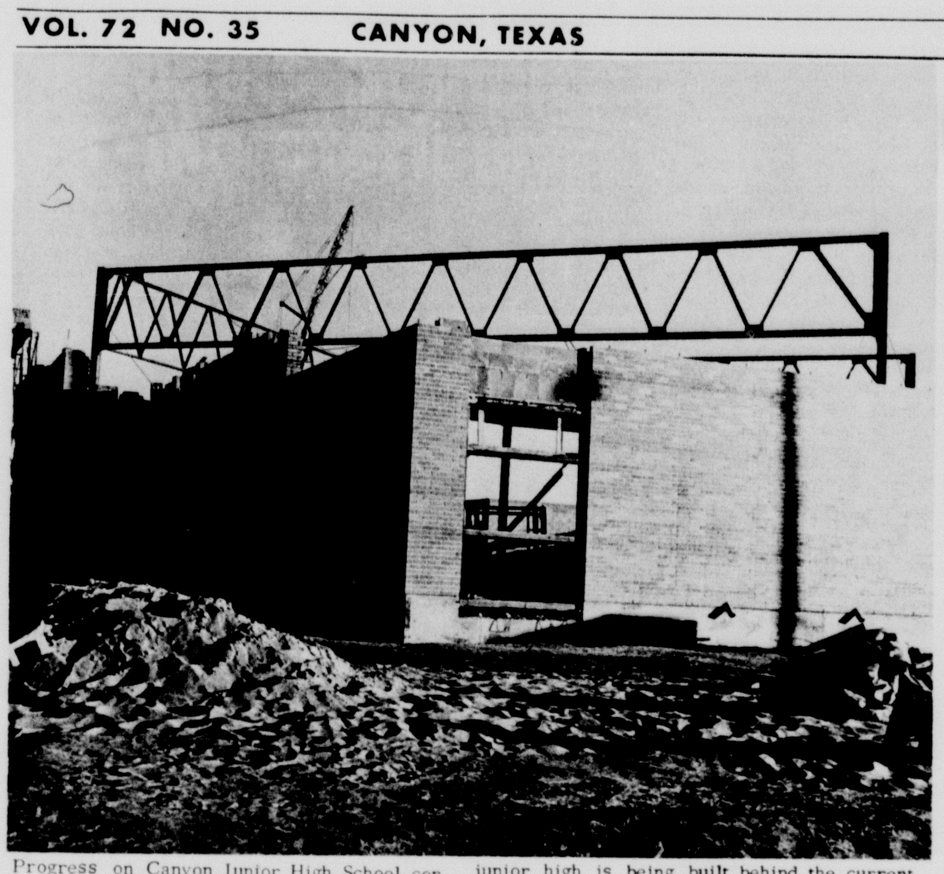
Alexander said last week that Canyon "would be wasting their money" to join.

Fletcher and other commissioners have advocated the drug control program become a part of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, which has a Police Committee.

In other business, the court authorized Xerox Corporation to place a copying machine at the court house annex in South Amarillo. Two public weighers were approved and the court authorized the County Clerk Leroy Hutton to advertise for bids for the supplies for the photostat machine in his office.

The court also authorized advertising for bids on some office furniture for the offices of the district attorney and the 181st district court judge.

Trafton Printing Stationery of Amarillo with a bid of $16.80 per thousand was low bidder for some envelopes for mailing out license plates.



Progress on Canyon Junior High School continues at a steady pace. Architects say construction is about 10 days behind schedule. The junior high is being built behind the current school building, which will be razed upon the new building's completion.

Knowles, Harrison, Vars Named To Head Chamber Next Year

A Canyon car dealer was elected president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce for 1970 at a chamber board of directors meeting Monday night.

The board declared Eddie Knowles, a local resident 10 years, as president by acclamation and elected Dr. Willis Harrison as vice president and Don Max Vars as treasurer.

Knowles, who is currently serving his first term as vice president, moved to Canyon from Plainview. He has served a two-year term on the Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

Dr. Harrison, a dentist, attended West Texas State University before entering dental school and the service. He returned to Canyon two years ago after a stint in the service. He has served on the chamber board one year.

Vars, who has lived in Canyon 4 1/2 years, is vice president of First National Bank in Canyon. He moved here from Lubbock and has been on the chamber board two years.

The new officers will assume duties in January.

Faculty Cries 'Censor;' Carruth Explains Rule

BY CARROLL WILSON

Facing charges of censorship and administrative control, dean of student life at West Texas State University explained Monday a student union board ruling. The ruling was basis this week of the denial of room to a moratorium planning group.

At least two things emerged from the meeting, which was a scheduled session of the American Association of University Professors on campus.

Dr. T. Paige Carruth interpreted the union board ruling and WTSU Librarian Frank Blackburn said he will sponsor the student-faculty moratorium group so they can obtain room in the Student Union Building.

More than 45 instructors and students attended the meeting, which was called by AAUP president Dr. Darrell Munsell to discuss academic freedom. Apparently there are only three active AAUP members on the campus.

Dr. Munsell has charged that the union board's denial of a room to the moratorium group Thursday was censorship and stifling of academic freedom.

"Academic freedom has been denied in the last few days," Dr. Munsell said, "and certainly with the ruling of the student union board as it now stands and the power of the student union board, academic freedom can be denied and probably will be denied in the future."

Dr. Munsell said that although the group was denied the use of Student Union Building facilities, he doesn't know why.

"I really don't know what the rules mean," he said.

Dr. Carruth was then called upon to interpret the rules, their background and application.

He said the policy was formulated primarily for use to administer the facilities of the soon-to-be-opened Physical Activities Building on campus.

He said the board was suggested by the Committee of '67. The nine board members are director of the ex-students association, the SUB director, the dean of student life, the president of the faculty senate, the student body president, the president of the Student Activities Council, president of the Residence Hall Association, president of the Association of Women Students and a delegate from the Greek organizations.

Dr. Carruth said the policy is a basic groundwork to give the union board some statement from which to make rulings on use of the new physical activities building.

He said the policy is necessary to insure that both buildings will be used primarily for that purpose for which they are intended--to serve the student.

"This union board policy was not designed to take care of the programs presented in this

Buffs To Try For Final Win

A team trying for a .500 season in its final game is a dangerous foe and that is just the type of club West Texas State University's Buffaloes face Saturday in Hattiesburg, Miss.

The Southern Mississippi Southerners have won four football battles this fall and lost five. They will make an effort to push their final season record to 5-5.

The Buffaloes of coach Joe Kerbel stand 6-3 for the season, winning four in a row after a slow start.

Coach P. W. "Bear" Underwood's Southerners were handicapped by injuries early in the season. An open date two weeks ago allowed some of those injuries to come around and Southern Mississippi took a 14-7 decision over East Carolina Saturday.

West Texas had its open date Saturday and the Buffaloes enter this week in good physical condition.

This will be the second game in a row the Buffaloes are dedicating to their seniors. They dedicated the victory over Bowling Green to the seniors as that was their final home game and Saturday's clash will be their final contest as members of the Buffalo squad.

Heading the list of seniors is fullback Duane Thomas. The 220-pound Dallas product has 2,335 career yards and holds third place among the school's all-time leading ball carriers. He needs 140 yards against the Southerners to replace Bill Cross as the school's second leading rusher.

Thomas has 1,031 yards in 185 carries this fall.

Center Joe Kerbel, Jr., and guard Dag Azam are other offensive starters who are seniors. Defensive starters who are seniors are guard John Notaro, tackle Randy Robson, corner backs Billy Lantow and Gary Conners and safety Troy Anderson.

Another senior is punter Roland Reichardt, who is averaging 39.3 yards per kick on 46 efforts.

Through nine games, the Buffs have outscored opponents 201 to 148 but have tallied 3,133 yards total offense to opponents' 3,285.

In first downs, the Buffs are behind opponents 155-191. They have lost 14 fumbles compared to nine bobbled by opponents.

Thomas leads the Buffs in scoring with 60 points to his credit followed by Redic with 50 and Olan Thompson with 48.

On defense, Harold Stuart, linebacker, still leads with 42 unassisted tackles and 77 assisted take-downs. He is followed by linebacker Bill Mc-

Speakers Sought For Moratorium

A faculty-student group sponsoring a Dec. 9-10 moratorium at West Texas State University appointed committees Monday afternoon to seek teachers and students for panel discussions and a teach-in.

The group met under the trees west of the old administration building on campus to plan for their moratorium activities, which are tentativley set for the Student Union Building ballroom throughout the days Dec. 9 and 10.

Also considered as a possible activity for the moratorium is an all-night candle vigil.

Meeting with the basic assumption that they will have a place to have their moratorium, the group's seeming leader Dr. Darrell Munsell said definitely "there will be a moratorium."

The group's previous requests for a room in the SUB for such activities have been turned down by a new Student Union Board.

In connection with the tentative plans for moratorium programs the group discussed seeking a mystery person to speak at the moratorium. A secretive mention of the person was brought up at the group's meeting last week.

One of the group members, Larry McGee of Amarillo, said the mystery man was still being contacted to see if he will speak.

Even if the mystery man cannot come to moratorium activities, the group members decided to have a keynote speaker, possibly Jack Mathews, an instructor at Amarillo College.

Two panel discussions will be organized for the moratorium--one consisting of students and one of faculty members.

Both panels will include four persons, two pro-Nixon's Vietnam policy and two pro-moratorium.

Mentioned as possibilities for the panels were Lt. Col. Billy R. Smith, professor of military science at WTSU, some local minister and some other faculty member.

Ann Frazine, a member of the moratorium group, suggested a Vietnam veteran be approached about being a panel member.

She and David Guerrero were appointed to find panelists for the student panel. Dr. Munsell and Richard Segee will work to find faculty panelists.

The group will try to lease at least three films for showing throughout the moratorium days.

The films, according to Munsell, will be educational in nature.

Faculty members will also be contacted to speak at a teach-

Pioneer Ups Rate Request From 34 Cents To 35 Cents

A witness for Pioneer Natural Gas Co., Monday told the Texas Railroad Commission the firm will need a gate rate increase from 28 cents per 1,000 cubic feet to 35 cents per 1,000.

M. D. LaGrone of H-Zinder and Associates of Dallas, testified that rather than the 34 cents, which was mentioned to cities in the Pioneer request, the gas company would need at least 35 cents.

Previously news release and letters to the Canyon City Commission indicated the company would seek an increase of 28 cents to 34 cents.

Bill McMorries, consulting engineer for the City of Canyon, told The Canyon News of the meeting's proceedings, which took place in Austin.

McMorries said LaGrone said Pioneer needed 35.33 cents because with only 34 cents, their return would be only 7.19 per cent. McMorries said the company contends they are entitled to a return of 8 per cent.

The hearing Monday was limited to direct testimony by seven Pioneer witnesses. About 30 representatives from 15 cities on Pioneer's Panhandle system attended the session.

Forty-nine cities have joined together to question Pioneer's gate rate increase request. Canyon is included in that number.

Among other gas company witnesses at the hearing were V. A. McElfresh of H-Ziner and Associates, T. S. Whitis, a Pioneer vice president, J. J. Heitz, a Pioneer petroleum engineer, Harry Castle Jr., a Pioneer engineer, C. J. Gholson, a gas company vice president, Arthur Forbes, with H-Zinder and Associates, and M. D. LaGrone.

2 Games At Bowl In City

Two high school play-off games are on tap for the Buffalo Bowl this weekend thanks to West Texas State University and the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

Friday night Clarendon, 2-A champion, will clash with a 4-A champ Petersberg in a regional play-off beginning at 7:30 p.m. To reach the regional, Clarendon downed White Deer last week and Petersberg bombed Farwell.

Dumas and Monahans meet in a bi-district contest at 2 p.m. Saturday. Monahans clinched the 2-AAA title with a victory over Pecos while Dumas beat Hereford to take the 1-AAA championship.

The university will provide the stadium, pay electrical expenses and clean up the stadium after both games.

Thanksgiving declaration...maybe not as it seems.

Thanksgiving Marker Eyed

BY PAUL BASCUS

Thursday is Thanksgiving Day and many an area resident will tell their children of the pilgrims and the Indians getting together way back in 1620 to thank the Lord for their blessings.

To many that was the "first" Thanksgiving Day in this country, but apparently there are those who believe similar thanksgiving was held much closer to Canyon, Tex. than Virginia and considerably earlier than 1620.

The Texas chapter, Daughters of the American Colonies erected a hisorical marker in 1959 on State Highway 217 near Palo Duro Canyon State Park designating the canyon as the site of the first Thanksgiving Day in this country.

The marker reads:

"Feast of the first Thanksgiving by Padre Fray de Padillo for Coronado and his troops in Palo Duro Canyon 79 years before the Pilgrims."

Exactly where the Daughters got their information is not known and local members of the organization, if there are any, apparently don't know.

Mrs. Terry Martin, chairman of the Randall County Historical Survey Committee, said that Mrs. Clyde Warwick of 2519 11th Avenue, probably knew as much about the marker and the history of Palo Duro Canyon as anybody on the committee.

Mrs. Warwick said that shortly after the marker was erected she tried to find out where the information was gathered and was told it came from the library at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum here.

Mrs. Warwick said the thanksgiving may have been conjecture based on certain references in a book written by Herbert Eugene Bolton to Coronado camping in the

Local Businesses To Observe Day

Thanksgiving Day (today) will be observed as a "closing holiday" by numerous local businesses.

Offices of the Canyon City Hall and Randall County Courthouse will be closed for the day as will the two Canyon banks, First National Bank and West Texas State Bank.

The Canyon Post Office will have no window service, city delivery or rural route service but box holders will have access to their boxes, according to Lee Roy Moreland, postmaster.

Randall County tax offices in both Canyon and Amarillo will be closed on Thanksgiving Day and the morning of November 29, according to Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector.

Canyon's public schools dismissed at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday for the holiday. Classes will resume on Monday.

Classes at West Texas State University dismissed at noon on Wednesday. University residence halls will close for the holiday and special arrangements will be made for students who live farther than a 400-mile radius of the campus if dorm counsellors or the dean of women are contacted. Women's residence halls closed at 8 p.m. Wednesday and the men's halls closed at 5 p.m. The residence halls will reopen at 1 p.m. on Sunday.

University classes resume at 8 a.m. on Monday, December 1.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

I think President Nixon again acted wisely when he decided to dispense with germ and gas warfare.

In the first place, both are highly unreliable. Germs or gas spread to affect an enemy can come back upon the user with a shift in the wind.

Also either of them, especially germ war, could wind up contaminating the entire globe.

Ben Barnes is not going to contest Preston Smith next year.

I think this is a smart move on Ben's part since he wouldn't have stood a chance with the old pro. As we have said before, Preston Smith will succeed himself as governor.

He's unbeatable.

About the hottest local race on the horizon is the one for district judge of the newly-created 181st Judicial District.

Don Dean, a soft spoken young Amarillo attorney, was appointed to the post but we predict that he will wind up in a contest to hold it.

The war in Vietnam is more and more a part of the burden of everyday life these days.

It hangs like a shadow from morning until night.

I am convinced that the President has a plan to extract us with honor. I fervently hope so. I hope that it can be done in such a manner that our dead have not died in vain and so that our friends in Vietnam will not have to pay a terrible penalty for having been our friends.

I feel certain that the President must have at least in his own mind set a time limit for some decisive action.

As I said in a recent Sunday editorial, I think the President should ask Congress for its permission to continue the war. This permission could be based on nothing less than a declaration of war.

I also think the Congress should take steps to prevent any single man from ever again committing American troops to an indecisive war for an indefinite period of time.

Certainly the President must have the power to meet aggression but the scope of his authority and the length of time he can commit troops without congressional sanction should be clearly spelled out in statute.

In this way we could avoid having our young men die in a conflict without the overwhelming support of their countrymen.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

No one has ever disproved the statement that "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." But who is currently doing most of the cradle rocking? The babysitter. And who is the favorite babysitter? The television set.

Childhood is a time of constant action. It is through play that children learn what they are, and develop their own unique identities. As little girls play house, they practice the duties of a wife and mother.

Little boys get more than exercise while they play cops and robbers, and cowboys and Indians; they gain insight into cultural standards and national history.

Many pre-school children spend the majority of their waking hours sitting passively in front of a TV set. Instead of creating his own diversion as his parents did, the average teenager simply turns on the TV, and sits back and waits for something beautiful to happen. Is it surprising that many such passive youngsters prefer to take their trips via LSD or marijuana to grappling with the real problems of life?

The quality of the TV programs a child watches is probably not nearly as important as the time he spends before the set. The natural energy a child possesses needs to be expanded; if it is not, tension builds that may explode in violence.

Recently two juveniles were arrested in Amarillo for destroying the home of a neighbor. The boys insisted they did not know why they did it. Perhaps they really did not understand their actions. Vandalism is more often a release of tension or a rebellious explosion than it is an act of vengeance.

Lack of sleep, inadequate diet, and insufficient work and play are all tension builders. An emotionallly charged atmosphere between the parents, or between parents and children is even more conducive to dangerous tensions than are physical deprivations.

One Saturday morning, two apparently well-behaved little brothers, aged 6 and 7, broke more than one hundred windows out of their school building. They were good students, liked their teachers, and seemed to enjoy school. They could give no explanation for their actions.

The parents reported the boys had given no trouble at home. They spent most of their time watching TV, but the mother had carefully screened their viewing. They watched only the most wholesome programs.

On investigation, the police learned the the boys' father had arrived home drunk on Friday night. He had smashed up the furniture, and brutally beaten their mother; she had announced her intentions of filing suit for a divorce (which she did).

With their home in shambles, and all the security they knew jerked out from under them, the boys reacted in a follow-the-leader fashion; they went out and did a little smashing of their own.

Children, like flowers, need careful nurturing; when they are abused or neglected there is not likely to be much flowering.

A gneration to two ago, any wife and mother who worked outside her home was likely to be viewed with suspicion. Now the wife who does not work is almost suspect. Something tragic has happened to our sense of values.

The average American family needs to lower its standard of living and raise its standard of life. Children are man's most valuable possession; he neglects them at his own peril.

Just staying in the home does not necessarily make a woman a good mother, but it is impossible to give her children the attention they need if she is not there.

The public is outraged at parents who physically abuse their children, but emotional deprivation may have even more disastrous results. If we are to improve our world, we must improve the quality of our children; and who can do that better than their own mothers?

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It is interesting to note the comparison between the Legislatures of 1901 and 1969. The following is an editorial in The Stayer, October, 1901, written by R. Morgan:

"The 27th session of the Legislature is dead. After much windjamming an appropriation bill was passed, one senator got married, one got buried, they had several pleasure jaunts and quite a number of them stayed at home; but the State paid the bill. The Democratic party still lives, all unpleasant investigations were entirely staved off or resulted in a liberal coat of white wash, and if the dear people are not pleased and happy they ought to be."

Mrs. T. B. McCarter.

SPY Adopted By Citizens

SPY is the name adopted by the non-denominational group of city residents who attended the second meeting of older citizens on Thursday.

The group's name stands for "Sixty-plus-years" and Lou Ella Patterson is serving as chairman for the group.

At Thursday's meeting, twenty-four were present including seven who had not attended the first session. The group scheduled the next meeting for December 11 at 3 p.m.

Local residents interested in the fellowship group may contact either Miss Patterson or the office of the First United Methodist Church, 655-3540, for information.

CJHS Teams Finish Here

Canyon Junior High School's two 9th grade teams finished the season Thursday night by playing each other to an 8-8 tie.

The Purple team's points came on a 3-yard run by Ken Zeveley with Bill Moore adding the two-point conversion on a run.

Matt Hanson scored the White's touchdown on a 50-yard gallop and Steve Williams ran for the tieing two points.

The Purple team, which went into the contest the heavy favorite based on its season record, finished with a 6-1-1 mark while the Purple team ended the season with a 4-4-1 record.

Dunbar Is Termed Tough

Lubbock Dunbar, termed "always tough" by Eagle basketball Coach B. B. Kendrick, will come to Canyon Saturday to test Canyon's roundballers.

The varsity, junior varsity and sophomore teams will all see action with the first game scheduled for 4:45 p.m.

Kendrick hopes the rugged competition at the beginning of this season--the Amarillo Sandies in the opening game, Dunbar Saturday and Class AAAA power Plainview Tuesday--will make a better team of his short, but sharp-shooting Eagles.

The Eagles will play Spearman here the day before the Plainview game after which they will have two days to prepare for the three-day Pampa Tournament.

Prior to the season, Kendrick said that if the Eagles could get through the first four games without "being completely shellshocked" they would have a shot at having a good season.

The Eagles will compete in three tournaments and play 11 regular season games before entering district competition on Jan. 9 with Perryton the first district foe.

CHS Girl Eagles Dropped By Point

The Girl Eagles of Canyon High School dropped their first game of the season Saturday night 45-44 in a hard-fought struggle with a fired up Hale Center team.

The loss left the girls with a 5-1 record for the season and Coach Bob Schneider said he hoped it would result in his team playing better ball.

"I don't think we were ready mentally to play basketball," Schneider said. "Hale Center was. I thought we played hard once we got into the game, but Hale Center was just better prepared to play when they hit the floor.

"We had some individuals who were ready to play, but I think it is important that the entire team be ready. Hale Center just out-hustled us. For instance we would steal the basketball from them, but then they would just hustle and steal it back from us."

Jan Sternenberg was the leading Girl Eagle scorer with 18 points. Cheryl Davis, with 16, and Linda Lehman with 10 rounded out the scoring for the losers.

"Our timing was off on the forward end and we just didn't look as sharp as I think we should have."

The Girl Eagles were outshot on the field and from the foul line. Canyon's team hit 55 per cent of their shots from the foul line and 63 per cent from the field. Hale Center hit 58 per cent of their free throws and 68 per cent of their shots from the field.

In the junior varsity game, Hale Center was simply no match for the Girl Eagles who won 79-20. Lynett Slack topped the JV scorers with 22 points.

"We got a good effort from everybody who played," Schneider said of the junior varsity. "Julie Coffman is coming along real well and played a very good game. She improves with every game."

Buffs Honor Five Players

Five players--two offensive and three defensive--garnered outstanding performance honors in West Texas State's 28-12 victory over Bowling Green which upped the Buffs' record to 6-3 for the year.

Coach Joe Kerbel said that after grading films of the game cornerback Gary Conner, linebacker Harold Stuart and safety Troy Anderson all tied for outstanding defensive player with grades of 84.

Center Joe Kerbel Jr. and halfback Rocky Thompson tied for the best offensive performance with grades of 79.

Conner scored the Buffs' first touchdown against the Falcons by intercepting a pass and rambling 57 yards.

Looking ahead to the final game of the season this Saturday at Southern Mississippi, Kerbel said, "We feel Southern Mississippi is a formidable opponent. Sure they've lost some games, but they've lost to good people. Their losses have been to teams like Alabama, Ole Miss, Memphis State and Mississippi State.

"We feel that playing at their field we'll have to play a good football game to win."

Kerbel said the Buffs have had "real good" workouts and that they will be in top physical shape when they go after season win number seven at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

The team will leave here at 3 p.m. Friday.

Tickets To Go On Sale

Basketball tickets for Canyon High School games will go on sale next week offering a savings on a ten-game ticket to be used at individual games or in double-punches, according to John Sommer, high school principal.

The ten-game tickets, to be sold for the first time this year, are priced at $7.50 for adults and $3.75 for students. There are approximately 20 home games left during the basketball season and the tickets may be purchased at the door to any game or from the principal's office.

Single admission to games involving the varsity teams will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Non-varsity scheduled games will be 50 cents adult and 25 cents student admission. Prices will be in effect for all games on the schedule and will be collected at the gamesite.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

— This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S.

Because this diet really works. We have testimonials reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. No weight loss in the first four days but you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Revised and enlarged, this diet lets you stuff yourself with formerly "forbidden" foods, such as steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fats, sausages and scrambled eggs and still lose weight. The secret behind this "quick weight loss" diet is simply. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. A copy of this startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $3.00 for 1 or 2 for $5.00

Gulf Co.
P.O. Box 524
Lincoln, Nebraska 68501

Money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, another 8 pounds in the next 7 days, and 11½ pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $3 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth.

Tom Rose Funeral Tuesday

Thomas Everett "Tom" Rose, 51, who operated and managed the Hunsley Hills Golf Course and Country Club here, suffered a cerebral hemmorage Monday morning and was dead on arrival at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Mr. Rose came to Canyon about 3 1/2 years ago to run the Hunsley Hills course and teach golf at West Texas State University. He was credited with making many improvements on the Hunsley Hills Course.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the First Baptist Church of Pampa with Rev. Dan Cameron, pastor, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Canyon. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery in Pampa by Duenkel Funeral Home.

TOM ROSE

A former car dealer in Pampa, he was born in Chillicothe and moved to Pampa as a child. He graduated from Pampa High School and received his bachelors degree in business from the University of Oklahoma where he was a member of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity.

He and his brother, Rex, owned the Rose Ford Company in Pampa, which their father had started. Later he also owned the Tom Rose Motors in Pampa.

Survivors include his wife, Horlene; a son, Tommy of the family home; his brother, Rex of Pampa and his stepmother, Mrs. Leora Rose of Pampa.

canyon in 1541.

Mrs. Newton Crain, librarian at the museum, also felt that the idea of Coronado and his men giving thanks in the canyon was derived from the book.

Bolton, an expert on the expedition of Coronado, says on page 257 of his book, "Coronado, Knight of Pueblos and Plains," that the Spanish treasure hunter camped in Tule Canyon at a point east of where Tulia is now on May 26, 1541 and he arrived in Palo Duro Canyon (page 268) on May 29 of the same year. He says this date is "confirmed by other circumstances."

On page 269 of his book he says, "Among places where a Coronado monument or an annual Coronado celebration would be appropriate, Canyon City, Texas stands high on the list."

According to the book, Coronado sent most of his force back to obtain food and supplies while in Tule Canyon, and he himself led a party of 30 men on northward.

"We know that Coronado and his men were tired, hungry and thirsty by the time they reached the canyon," Mrs. Warwick said. "And there is little doubt that upon finding water in the Canyon and Indians there who had food that a giving of thanks was in order for the religious Spaniards."

She said the Padre Fray de Padillo referred to by the historical marker was a Catholic priest accompanying the Coronado expedition.

Bolton's book, based on logs kept by members of the expedition, refers to no thanksgiving feast, but it does say that Coronado's decision to continue northward with only 30 men was reached on May 26, 1541 "The Feast of the Ascension of Our Lord."

He also tells of the Indians offering a huge pile of skins to the Spaniards to be blessed, but that the soldiers apparently misunderstood and thought the skins were a gift. He says a fight ensued among the soldiers over who would get the skins, that Indians joined in, and soon all the skins were torn to shreds and nobody got any. That's not exactly in keeping in the spirit of Thanksgiving Day as we now observe it, but it is believable.

It is also believable that whether or not the Spaniards actually had a formal thanksgiving, when they found water and food in the Canyon they were probably thankful and they probably ate--thus a thankful feast in Palo Duro Canyon in 1541 is not too unlikely.

building," Dr. Carruth said.

The dean of student life said that according to the union board policy statement if the moratorium group were recognized by the student senate, deans, administrative officers they would not have to appear before the union board for approval. Approval would be automatic.

With that in mind, Librarian Blackburn said "Well then its settled. I'll recognize you" to Dr. Munsell.

As librarian, Blackburn is an administrative officer.

Dr. Munsell asked, however, why the room use was denied Thursday, since the policy also states that individual students or instructors can reserve the room if approved by the board.

Dr. Frank Daugherty, president of the faculty senate, said he voted "no" on the request because he is opposed to any program which is scheduled where it will interfere in normal classroom instruction.

Dr. Carruth then told Dr. Munsell he had reserved a room in the old administration building for the use by the moratorium group on Dec. 9 and 10.

Dr. Munsell said the group did not wish to hold a moratorium in a classroom building because of a new law passed by the legislature which states that students can be expelled and instructors dismissed for any action which disrupts classes.

"This might be thought of as disruptive to classes," he said.

Once again, the question of why the board denied room use Thursday was interjected.

Fred Rathjen, an instructor at WTSU, said "but the point is, they didn't have to give a reason."

Rathjen charged that the request was denied not on the basis of allocation of space, but "purely because of ideological objection of the people on that board."

He said "the gut issue is that the union board can refuse facilities. This is baldfaced censorship."

Rathjen termed the entire problem "bush league."

"On any other campus you wouldn't even bother with this. Nobody would think about this, a rule that's not even a compliment to a fairly decent high school. Let's grow up and get on with it."

With Rathjen's comments, the meeting closed.

Dr. Munsell called another meeting for 4 p.m. Dec. 5 again to discuss academic freedom on the campus.

He said he has received a flurry of applications to join the local AAUP chapter following Monday's meeting.

ager, said cost of each bracket and flag would be about $12.50. He said about 106 would be needed for the project.

The flags are to be installed for two months during the summer on each light pole on 23rd Street and State 217 in the city as well as around the town square.

They are to commemorate the showing of the musical drama "Texas" which is produced annually in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

Black said because of flag courtesy, the Texas flag could not be flown before sunrise nor after sundown or in inclement weather. He suggested the Panhandle Heritage Foundation, sponsors of the "Texas" show, design a show flag which could be used on the light poles.

The flags are to be set on staves about 14 feet above ground level on the poles.

House instructed Black to ask the heritage foundation for a flag design which would be suitable for the project.

The chamber board also discussed the Friday and Saturday play-off football games which are to be played in Buffalo Bowl in Canyon.

Dumas meets Monohans Saturday afternoon and Clarendon meets Petersburg Friday night. The chamber is charged, by contract, with supplying ticket takers, tickets, programs, press box arrangements and restroom cleaning arrangements.

Dr. C.C. Callarman, in-coming board member and dean of the school of Business at West Texas State University, told the board he expects 20,000 brochures, featuring facts about Canyon, Amarillo, WTSU and the area to roll off the presses shortly after Dec. 1. The brochures are produced by the school of business and will be used in mail-outs and other ways for advertisement of the area.

The chamber board contributed $40 toward the printing bill for the brochures.

in at various times during the two-day period.

Wayne Lambert, instructor in the WTSU geology department, suggested the group schedule some activity such as a candle vigil or a reading of the war dead from the area.

A table will be set up wherever the moratorium is held for distribution of literature, buttons and perhaps black armbands, the group said.

The student-faculty group will meet again at 2 p.m. Monday in Munsell's office to finalize the program.

They are to appear Dec. 3 before the Student Union Board to request use of the SUB ballroom.

Floor Coverings Topic Of HD Agent's Program

"Selecting Resilient Floors" was the topic of a program presented during November by Becky Hall, home demonstration agent.

Mrs. Hall spoke during the month to each of the county home demonstration clubs on "floor covering and construction considerations."

"The appearance and performance of a given type of resilient floor can be affected substantially by such factors as type of construction and underlayments used, grade level, moisture, and subsurface conditions," according to Mrs. Hall. "Since these become the primary factors controlling suitability--and governing the selection- of resilient floors, all should be considered carefully and even before such matters as cost and aesthetics.

In her program Mrs. Hall gives the following information to be considered in flooring:

Grade level and moisture conditions: Due to the harmful effect of moisture on some types of resilient floors, consideration of grade level is a first requirement. The three grade levels are "on grade", "below grade" and "suspended". Suspended includes subfloors, above, on or below grade level with a minimum of 18 inches of well ventilated air space below.

Moisture and Concrete Subfloors: Concrete is very slow in drying and when in contact with the ground is never completely dry. Since the moisture content of concrete may seriously affect resilient flooring materials and adhesives, proper preparation and testing of concrete subfloors is essential. Moisture from the ground and from an inadequately ventilated air space below, penetrates the concrete slab, bringing to the surface an alkaline solution which can attack the binders and backings of some resilient flooring materials, causing a chemical change.

"People choose resilient flooring for its economy, convenience, long wear and its beauty," she related.

"It is remarkably tough and resistant to wear. Because of the surface density it is sanitary and easy to keep clean.

"And it is probably the most economical flooring material available for home use.

Resilient floors are manufactured in two basic forms: (a) tiles which are cemented in place to serve as a permanent floor; and (b) sheets which may also be cemented, but in some cases are installed loosely like rugs.

Tile flooring lends itself to an endless variety of geometric patterns while the principal advantage of sheet flooring is its seamlessness.

"In the family of resilient floors many have been developed from the plastics explosion of today," related Mrs. Hall.

Vinyl like nylon, is a man-made substance. There is a wide selection of vinyl material to choose from. There are inlaid vinyl tiles as well as selections by the sheet.

Vinyl is featured with a cushioned vinyl backing and as vinyl tiles with asbestos backing. Rotovinyl flooring is fairly new. Essentially, they consist of a felt or asbestos backing with a rotogranure-reinted surface design and a protective top coating of pure vinyl.

Frequently a core of vinyl foam is incorporated into the material to add realistic surface texture to the design and provide greater comfort.

These roll form flooring materials offer many of the luxury features of inlaid vinyl, but at much lower cost.

"We still have linoleum--a flooring standard for generations and still preferred by many homeowners for its durability and economy.

"A limitation of linoleum," said Mrs. Hall, "is that it can not be used on or below grade. Linoleum should be installed only on suspended subfloors.

"Asphalt tile is usually the least expensive of all permanent floors, since it is highly resistant to alkaline moisture it can be installed at any grade level, including basement floors in direct contact with the ground. It offers good durability, but compared to other types of resilient floors--it ranks low in grease and soil resistance. For this reason it is not recommended for kitchens or other areas where there is likely grease spillage or heavy soiling.

Temporary floor coverings, which are either looselaid like rugs or installed wall to wall with marking tape at the seams, offer another inexpensive resilient floor.

Resilient flooring materials are built to take a great deal of traffic with minimum maintenance. They need regular waxing to protect the surface and enhance the natural color and design of the material.

On all resilient materials, except cork and vinyl-cork tile, use a good grade of water emulsion wax, applied in thin coats. For cork tile use a solvent based wax especially made for this material.

"In selecting resilient floors," concluded Mrs. Hall, "consider these factors: 1. Construction material, 2. Grade level, 3. Wearability, 4. Economy, 5. Beauty, and 6. Convenience."

COMMERCIAL AND HOME WEIGHTS of pure vinyl, linoleum and vinyl asbestos are displayed by county home demonstration agent, Mrs. Becky Hall, as she presents a program this month concerning "floor coverings".
